The charm of the undiscovered

The background image shows a harbor scene in Almería, Spain. In the foreground, a small boat is docked at a stone pier. Behind it, a large white ship with red and blue stripes is visible. To the right, a tall, modern tower with a glass-enclosed observation deck stands prominently. The harbor is surrounded by a city, and in the distance, there are rolling hills under a clear sky. The entire image is covered with a semi-transparent blue filter.
